

Activity ideas for World Quality Week 2022

Many individuals and organisations use World Quality Week as an opportunity to act as quality advocates.

Help us make 2022 a success by planning your World Quality Week events today. Here are a few ideas to get you started;

Host a lunch and learn session – share a story about the positive impact of quality in your business or use one of our quality videos to help people to understand quality

Treat your organisation with a quality-themed coffee morning – use this time to build stronger working relationships with colleagues in other teams

To gain support from other leaders in your organisation, engage your senior management team by asking them to support your event

Challenge yourself or your team to identify examples on how you can grow/maintain quality management processes through everyday activities

Record and post your own YouTube video to inspire your team

Review our articles about creating customer value, and identify CPD objectives where you are using principles covered in them
